The Congenital Cardiac Anesthesia Society (CCAS) is a Society organized within the Society for Pediatric Anesthesia. The CCAS concept originated with cardiac anesthesia directors and other key leaders at major congenital heart disease programs, who believed there was a need for a new society because of rapid advancement of highly specialized knowledge in the field, and a great increase in the numbers of patients, including adults with congenital heart disease.

The Mission of the Congenital Cardiac Anesthesia Society is:

1. Education. Organizing high quality, in depth educational programs on the national and international levels.
2. Collaboration. Bringing together Society members for discussion of clinical care, education, and research for the anesthetic care of patients with congenital heart disease.
3. Coordination. Coordinating with and supporting the goals and objectives of other related societies.
4. Research. Encouraging and promoting research in the field of congenital cardiac anesthesia.
5. Database. Organizing and maintaining a multi-institutional database of the anesthetic care of patients with congenital heart disease.
6. Training. Assisting in developing and supporting guidelines for residency and fellowship training for congenital heart disease, with the SPA and Society of Cardiovascular Anesthesiologists.
7. Advocacy. Advocating for high quality anesthetic and perioperative care for patients with congenital heart disease.

Benefits of Membership in the CCAS Include:

1. Discounted conference fees at CCAS sponsored educational events, including those held in conjunction with SPA sponsored activities and the Pediatric Cardiac Intensive Care Society.
2. A forum for networking with anesthesiologists interested in the care of patients with congenital heart disease, from infancy through adulthood.
3. Institutional access to the CCAS Database, a unique opportunity for quality and outcomes information and research.
4. Joint membership in the Society for Pediatric Anesthesia, with all of its benefits including discounted SPA conference fees, complementary newsletter, and research opportunities, as well as an excellent informative web site.*

Does not apply to Affiliate B members*
